

Adults Smile Tolerantly or Sneer Intolerantly at the Problems of Adolescence

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — How long has it been since you've taken a teen-ager to lunch? Why not do so today — just as a gesture of peace and to let him know you recognize him as a member of the human race? Surely there is a teen-ager in your neighborhood who doesn't carry a switchblade knife, gulp good-bys, or go around beating up old people and snatching purses. The teen-ager in recent years has been the target of a lot of abuse from reformers, social critics and professional woe-criers. It is as if we growlups, seeing the mess the world is in, were trying to wash out our own guilt by making our next generation feel guilty.

CHATTER

By: "Bill"
"The real difference between a beautiful woman and a charming woman; a beautiful woman is a woman you notice, while a charming woman is one who notices you."
If we might be so bold as to add to this bit of wisdom, we would say that the well-groomed woman is one who has chosen her costume with loving care and having no doubt about her appearance... has all the time to be charming.
The summer season is short, no one wants to spend much on summer clothes, but we expect $50 much from them. They are worn in heat that is sometimes willing... they must withstand perspiration and be wrinkle-free and everyone wants them to be washable for that real fresh look and feel. This is a pretty big order for a simple little summer frock but it can be filled.
An Arnel knit is a must for summer. Select a print or stripe in your best colors, either a one or two-piece, wear it with your short summer gloves and your bone or white pumps... you will look fresh as a daisy!
For spectator sports, choose a cotton shirt-dress, a sheath that can be belted or not, roll-up sleeves, washable and always fresh and neat looking... Several colors in solids, prints, and stripes to choose from.
There are other 'charmers' we invite you to see them all... at

Computers Tell Human Behavior

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Development appears feasible for electronic computers that would predict human behavior — including how people would vote in an election — a psychiatrist said today.
The trick could be done if enough brain power — and money — were put in to a "crash program" designed to perfect data-feeding and other techniques needed to activate such robots, declared Dr. Daniel Cappon of the University of Toronto.
Such an achievement could advance psychiatry by half a century, he said in a report to the 122nd annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.
Cappon said he is convinced the goal is feasible on the basis of his own use of a computer for the past five years as an aid in psychiatric research.
He said he has used it on such things as rapid calculation of experimental results and as a means of information storage and retrieval. And, most recently, in promising experiments aimed at translating entire psychiatric histories into a relatively simple "computer language."
"There is no reason why," he said, "once data incorporating the life experience and mental state of persons — such as patients and controls — is put into computers, this could not be subsequently tapped to answer questions about how people might behave under certain circumstances, for example, under conditions of stress, of treatment, or in casting a vote."
"If enough information is stored — and if the computer yields sufficient criteria to be subsequently reprogrammed, it should be possible to ask computers, on behalf of the population they represent, to make decisions between alternate futures and thus enhance the predictability of human behavior."

Chaplin Has Finished His Movie

By RAYMOND PALMER
LONDON (AP) — Charlie Chaplin has finished shooting his first movie in a decade and says he hopes to start another before very long.
"You've got to keep the mental batteries charged," he said Wednesday night, "and there's nothing like activity for doing that. People are telling me I look much better than when I started this movie."
Chaplin, 77, was speaking at a small dinner celebrating the end of studio work on "A Countess from Hong Kong." He wrote and directed the film, which stars Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando.
"It's amazing what this picture has done for him," said Chaplin's wife, Oona. "He looks so much younger and yet he's been working harder than anyone — six and sometimes seven days a week."
Chaplin said he will go to his home in Switzerland for a few days, then come back to London to edit the picture and complete the musical score. He said he plans to spend some time with his family, "then I want to make another picture."
"And I've already told Charlie that I want to be in it," said Miss Loren.
A spokesman for Universal Pictures, which financed "A Countess from Hong Kong," said he had heard the story line of Chaplin's proposed movie "and we are very interested — it's a wonderful story." He gave no clues to its content.
Chaplin was reminded that "Countess" took 30 years from the inception of the original idea to getting it on film.
"Well, I won't take so long next time," he replied. "After all, I haven't got time to waste now. If I spent another 30 years on this idea I'd be 107 before I got it finished."

Connery said he planned to give up the James Bond role that made him famous.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Pneumonia Doesn't Cause Those Nagging Chest Pains

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What causes pneumonia? How long does it take to get over the aching in the chest?

A—There are many causes of pneumonia. The commonest form is caused by the pneumococcus with viral pneumonia running a close second. Pneumonia may also be caused by tularemia, parrot fever, tuberculosis, plague, many fungus diseases and by accidentally inhaling food or other foreign bodies (aspiration pneumonia).

Pneumonia does not cause pain in the chest but may lead to pleurisy, which does. How long a pleurisy can last is subject to many imponderables.

Q—My niece is in her seventh month of pregnancy. She writes that she is jaundiced and must stay in bed. Can she or her baby be saved?

A—The jaundice may be due to infectious hepatitis (coming at an inopportune time) or acute yellow atrophy of the liver (a rare but serious condition associated with pregnancy). In either case, this should be treated as an emergency by a skilled obstetrician.

Q—What is the longest period of gestation on record? In cases where a husband and wife have been separated this may be of legal significance.

A—A definite answer cannot be given because we have no sure way of determining the exact date of conception. It is assumed that it takes place after the middle of the time between the last menstruation and the first missed period.

Cases have been reported in which the duration of pregnancy according to the best estimates available exceeded 11 calendar months but no obstetrician in his right mind would let a pregnancy continue that long today.

Q—Recently I bought a set of Teflon-coated pans and skillets. Today I read that a highly poisonous gas is released when Teflon is heated to 400 degrees Fahrenheit. What do you think?

A—In order to get fumes from Teflon the temperature must reach 380 degrees Centigrade. This is 716 degrees Fahrenheit — a temperature not likely to be reached in a well-run kitchen. If, by chance, you did inhale the fumes of vaporized Teflon you might get a mild respiratory illness resembling influenza, from which you would recover in 48 hours or less without any treatment. If Teflon-coated kitchen utensils were not safe the Food and Drug Administration would not permit their sale.

Rules Govern Pupil Dress

LOS BANOS, Calif. (AP) — Officials of the Los Banos Unified School District have set up some rules governing pupil dress.

Boys cannot let bangs grow past their eyebrows. Hair may not extend below the normal position of a shirt collar. No beards, except on special occasions.

Girls can't wear dresses that are so long, so short, or so low as to be extreme or distracting.

Pick Coffee, Get Cooking Help

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban government has promised to relieve wives of one of their biggest household chores — cooking — if they pick coffee beans and cut sugar cane instead.

The minister of the food industry, Rolando Alvarez, said in a broadcast heard in Miami that the government would start offering precooked meals that need to be heated only a few minutes.

The first scientific fighter in the history of pugilism was the Englishman, Daniel Mendoza, who combined good footwork and a straight left jab. At 160 pounds, he beat the biggest and best fighters in England. He finally lost his title in 1795 to John Jackson, who achieved the championship only by grabbing Mendoza's long hair with one hand and clubbing the smaller man with the other.

Criss-Cross Play Is Deadly Weapon

A letter from Mesa, Ariz., reads: "I guess I must be a triple-dyed chump at the card table. Maybe I'm greedy or perhaps I just can't stand prosperity. I sat East and doubled North at six hearts: I was pretty sure that I had two trump tricks and that the enemy had no place to go except down. When South ran out to six no-trump I became very angry at myself but there was nothing I could do about it except suffer.

"When dummy showed up with the ace of diamonds I wished I had doubled six no-trump also but South proceeded to wrap his contract right around my neck.

"He discarded the ace of diamonds on a club at trick two and then led his queen of diamonds. I took my king and led the suit back, whereupon he proceeded to cash his last club and all his diamonds and to discard down to the blank ace-king of hearts and the king-ten-nine of spades in dummy. I had to go down to five cards also and had to up-guard one of the major suits. I blanked my heart honors, whereupon South cashed dummy's ace and king and

Russell Goes to Knicks in Pro Draft

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Cazzie Russell of Michigan comes out of Wednesday's National Basketball Association draft as the No. 1 college player in the country—to the surprise of nobody.

The New York Knickerbockers, who had won first pick on the flip of a coin with the Detroit Pistons, really never hesitated in picking Russell.

"We felt this was the guy all along," said general manager Eddie Donovan of the Knicks. "After we won the toss we knew this was the man we wanted. He has a strong body and great basketball knowledge."

"We expect to try him at guard although he has the ability to be a forward, too. His forte is not shooting. He's just a well-rounded player."

"I spent a couple of hours with him at Ann Arbor about a week ago and I have a feeling he will play with us. I was very impressed by him as an individual."

Russell, who says he also has an offer from the Harlem Globetrotters, said he would make a decision next week.

The Pistons also wanted Russell but settled for Dave Bing of Syracuse as the No. 2 pick among the 79 players selected by the 10 clubs.

The pros naturally put the emphasis on size. Russell is 6-foot-3½ and 218 pounds. Bing is 6-3 and 185.

Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, 6-9, 220, already has made plans to play with a company team in Milan, Italy. However, after he was picked by San Francisco in the first round, he said he would talk about pro ball in the near future.

Matt Gunkas of St. Joseph's in Philadelphia had said he planned to play college ball another year but he might change his mind, too, after being taken in the first round by Philadelphia.

Bill Russell, new coach of the Boston Celtics, made his first appearance in the job as he and general manager Red Auerbach, the retiring coach, picked Jim Barnett of Oregon, 6-4, 180, as their first-round draftee.

Jerry Chambers, who led Utah to the Far West regional title in the NCAA competition, said he was shocked to learn the Los Angeles Lakers made him their No. 1 pick. "I'm happy but I thought Cincinnati or St. Louis would take me first," he said. "But it's great. I used to play against Elgin Baylor back home in Washington, D.C."

Walt Wesley, 6-11, 235, was the biggest man taken in the first round. The big boy from Kansas went to the Cincinnati Royals. Dave Schellhase of Purdue, the nation's top college scorer, lasted until Chicago got the 10th and last pick in the first round.

Other first round picks were Lou Hudson of Minnesota, by St. Louis, and Jack Marin of Duke, by Baltimore. Hudson is a top-flight scorer who suffered a broken hand in early season and played only 17 games.

Ken Still Is Face in the PGA Crowd

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Ken Still is just a face in the crowd on the PGA circuit. Chances are he will still be one of the unknowns when the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney ends but the slim swinger thinks he's ready to break into the championship ranks.

Still joined such golfing notables as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, Billy Casper, the Hebert brothers — Jay and Lionel, defending champ Dick Mayer and 137 others on the Lakewood Country Club course today for the first 18 holes of the 72-hole event.

The 6-foot, 160-pounder may be right in analyzing his chances. Already in 1966 he has won $12,587 on the tour — more than his official earnings for all of 1965.

Still, 32, turned professional just out of high school in his native Tacoma, Wash., worked as an assistant at various clubs, tried tournament golf unsuccessfully, then quit golf to go into the rug-cleaning business.

"But golf was in my blood," said Still. "I was unhappy without it."

Porkers Bruised, Practice Short

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said the Arkansas Razorbacks were too bruised from the previous day's practice, so he called off the regular 30-minute scrimmage Wednesday.

The defending Southwest Conference champion Porkers wind up spring football practice Friday with a Red-White game here.

Besides the bruises, heavy rain slowed the team somewhat as it ran through offensive and defensive drills Wednesday, Broyles said.

Major Teams Pare Rosters to 25 Men

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Major League rosters were down to 25 players today following last-minute transactions that resulted in the shifting of several well-known baseball names.

The deadline for reaching the mandatory 25 players was midnight Wednesday. Dick Schofield, Larry Jaster, Wes Covington, Chuck Schilling and Tom Cheney were among those asked to pack their traveling bags.

Schofield was sold to the New York Yankees by San Francisco. The Yanks made room for the veteran shortstop by sending pitcher Jack Cullen to Toledo of the International League on option.

Jaster, a starting pitcher for St. Louis during the first month of the season, was optioned to Tulsa of the Pacific Coast League. The southpaw had a 1-2 record for the Cards.

Covington, 34-year-old outfielder, was released outright by the Chicago Cubs. He had been acquired from Philadelphia last winter.

Schilling, former Boston second baseman, was optioned by Minnesota to its Denver affiliate in the PCL. The Twins also cut outfielders Ted Uhlaender and Joe Nosske. Nosske was claimed on waivers by Kansas City while Uhlaender was optioned to Denver.

The Washington Senators sold Cheney to Hawaii of the PCL. He set a major league record for strikeouts in one game when he fanned 21 in a 16-inning game against Baltimore in 1962.

Irish Are Great Dog, Horse Lovers

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't tell George Jones that the Irish are great lovers of horses and dogs.

Irish eyes didn't smile on Kim, a mixture of boxer and terrier, says Jones, 68. So he gave up his hopes of retiring to County Cork with his wife, Julia, 61, and Kim, who is 10.

"The Irish don't have any heart. They didn't see into understand the attachment a man can have for an animal," said Jones today at the home of a friend in Queens.

He's staying there because he sold his house before leaving for Ireland three weeks ago.

As Jones tells the story, Irish customs officials at Shannon Airport told him Kim would have to stay in quarantine for six months. That's the law, and the fearful pleas of Jones and his wife couldn't swing an exception.

What the Irish couldn't understand, Jones said, was that "we have no children. We are wrapped up in the dog. We need some love and Kim fills the bill."

From Shannon, Kim was shipped off to quarantine in Dublin while the Joneses went to Cork, where Mrs. Jones was born and where three of her sisters and a brother still live.

Twice the Joneses journeyed the 168 miles from Cork to Dublin to see Kim. But early this week they decided that neither they nor Kim could stand it any longer.

"The dog would have grieved to death if she had stayed there six months," said Jones, who retired three years ago from his job as a telephone installer.

The Jones' six rooms of furniture and their car were packed up again and the couple returned to New York Tuesday.

Separate shipping arrangements were made for Kim, who returned Wednesday night.

Elizabeth Clark, Stanton hotel manager, said Kim was born in 1913.

Chisox Edge Baltimore in 11 Innings

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Dick Radatz's fast fall use to him. Now it's zinging the blues. The tune remained the same Wednesday night as Radatz came in for Boston with the score tied in the 10th inning and ended the game — by throwing a single to Bert Campaneris that gave Kansas City a 6-5 victory.

It's been like that for the fireballing right-hander since last season, when the once-invincible Monster first began to lose his effectiveness. Radatz' record sagged to 9-11 in 1965, and his earned run average climbed to 3.92.

"The Monster isn't a mechanical man," said one American League slugger. "The guy has been in over 200 games in three years. Add to that all the times he's warmed up in the bullpen. What do you expect out of one man's arm?"

Pshaw, said Radatz, the problem was simple. "I started experimenting with a curve ball," he explained. "And I changed my motion enough to affect my fast ball, and they were able to hit it."

So Radatz went back to his normal motion. But they're still hitting it.

His appearance against Kansas City was his ninth this season — and the Red Sox have lost eight of those games. He has been tagged for 18 hits in 10 2-3 innings, has struck out only eight, has an 0-1 record and a 4.90 ERA.

The loss not only added to Radatz' unimpressive statistics but to Boston's as well, the Red Sox diving past the New York Yankees into sole possession of last place.

In other games on the rain-shortened American League program, the Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings and California outlasted Washington 7-6 in 10 innings.

In the National League, San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh 6-1, Atlanta clubbed Cincinnati 8-1, Los Angeles blanked Philadelphia 5-0 and Houston downed the New York Mets 6-4.

The White Sox were shutout on three hits by Dave McNally until they tied the score in the eighth with a two-run rally built on run-scoring singles by John Romano and Floyd Robinson. They won it in the 11th when Gene Brabender balked home Bill Skowron with the deciding run.

Frank Howard homered for the Senators and Jose Cardenal and Rick Reichardt for the Angels but at the end of nine innings they were tied 5-5. Washington moved ahead in the 10th on Ken McMullen's double and a single by Don Lock but California came right back with two runs.

A triple by Bobby Knoop and Reichardt's single produced the first. Reichardt, then second, and after Ed Kirkpatrick walked, raced home with the winner on a single by Paul Schaal.

Young Donny Hurls a Mean Fast Ball

By DON BOXMEYER
St. Paul Dispatch Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Young Donny Warn pitches a mean fast ball.

In a vacant lot near his home, Donny drops his crutches, bends to the ground, falls to his knees and throws his fast ball.

Danny, 13, can't stand and pitch. Because of polio, he wears stiff metal braces and gets around on crutches.

But he does have a wicked fast ball thrown from his knees. Other players in Donny's vacant lot league don't baby Donny. Sisters Audrey and Joyce, brother Pow-Wow, and friends shout their encouragement, but chide him for a poor pitch.

"C'mon Donny," yells batter Pow-Wow, "how about gettin' one to me?"

Donny, his knees still on the ground, cocks his right arm back and snaps it like a pitcher with both feet solidly on the ground.

Pow-Wow gets a hit, and it is Joyce's turn. She tags a solid drive into the street, and Donny twists at the waist and follows the ball's flight silently.

Finally, Donny goes into the batter's box, crutches under his arms to prop him up, and takes a good cut at a ball thrown by Pow-Wow. He smacks it, clearly hit, but foul.

"I can hit it most of the time," Donny will say. "I hit pretty well, too. Someone does my running for me."

"I guess I bat all right, but I'd rather pitch."

Donny, who has nine brothers and sisters, was afflicted with the disease nine years ago. Doctors say he will never walk again without the aid of braces.

Giants Stretch Streak to 12, Braves Win

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Bobby Bragan walked out of a clubhouse meeting and proudly proclaimed, "We resolved to start winning."

And the Atlanta Braves did just that. But then it's easy when you have Hank Aaron on your side. Aaron hammered two home runs and drove in five runs as Atlanta ended a losing string at five games with an 8-1 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday night.

Bragan called a 20-minute meeting before the game.

"I told them the pitchers are better than they have been pitching and the hitters are better than they have been hitting," the Atlanta manager said.

"And I told them the manager is better than he has been managing."

So Tony Cloninger took care of the pitching. Aaron handled the hitting and Bragan hardly had to do any managing as Atlanta rocked the Reds.

Aaron's two home runs were his 10th and 11th this season and upped his career total to 409, 10th on the all-time list.

He tagged his first of the night over the left field wall with a man on in the first and then reached almost the same spot with two on in the fifth.

Both of Aaron's shots and one by Joe Torre came off Sammy Ellis who lost for the fifth time in six games.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston downed New York 6-4, San Francisco stretched its winning streak to 10 games with a 6-1 victory over Pittsburgh and Los Angeles blanked Philadelphia 5-0.

In the American League, Kansas City edged Boston 6-5 in 10 innings, Chicago shaded Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings and California nipped Washington 7-6 in 10 innings.

Barry Latma pitched 6 1-3 innings of two-hit relief and Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn hammered home runs that lifted Houston past the Mets. Wynn's three-run shot in the fifth put the Astros on top to stay.

Gaylord Perry won his fifth straight with a six-hitter and Willie Mays hit his 514th career homer for the Giants.

Mays' two-run homer in the ninth completed San Francisco's scoring after a pair of doubles by Tom Haller helped lead the Giants' early lead.

Don Sutton pitched Los Angeles' first shutout of the season and contributed three hits to the Dodger attack against the Phillies.

The rookie right-hander struck out eight, walked only one and drove in the only run he needed in the third inning when he singled after catcher John Roseboro had doubled.

Ron Fairly drove in two runs with a sixth inning single and Sutton contributed his third hit to another two-run Dodger rally in the ninth.

Army Goes to Ranks for a Coach

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A California psychiatrist suggests a national system of "voluntary imprisonment" as a possible means of improving the rehabilitation of criminal offenders.

It would work much like the present system employed in mental hospitals, whereby patients may seek "voluntary admission" as distinguished from involuntary commitment, said Dr. Norman I. Barr of the Neuropsychiatric Institute, University of California at Los Angeles.

He suggested it Wednesday in a report to the 122nd annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association. He said this is how it might work:

"Let us assume, for example, that a man is apprehended who was caught red-handed in the performance of a criminal act and whose conviction is a foregone conclusion."

"Instead of forcing him through an adversary trial, he could plead guilty and request a rehabilitative imprisonment for a minimum period of time, arbitrarily six months."

"At the end of this time," Barr continued, "his case would be reviewed by a board of experts and, if he seemed rehabilitated, be referred back to the court for appropriate disposition — discharge, probation, or additional sentencing."

"If he was not considered rehabilitated, he would have recourse to volunteer for an additional six months, or to request leaving the voluntary program and asking for a specific sentence by the judge — the final decision would always rest with the judge."

He had a question-mark status until Maj. Gen. Donald V. Bennett, West Point's superintendent, ended the speculation Wednesday night.

C A = Crisp Apples All Spring

Big news in the apple world is "C A" storage rooms. Designed to maintain a perfectly-balanced atmosphere, perfectly-controlled humidity and temperature, the "C A" storage rooms have kept a select group of Washington Red Delicious apples as crisp and juicy as when they were harvested. Thus, science brings you fall apples of tree-ripe flavor for Spring and Summer eating. Take them outdoors with you just as they are, or use them in this interesting and unusual Fresh Apple-Potato Salad, perfect for patio parties.

Fresh Apple-Potato Salad

- 3 unpared Washington Red Delicious apples
 - Lemon Wash (1 tsp. lemon juice in 1 cup cold water)
 - 7 large potatoes, cooked in skins
 - 1/2 cup diced celery
 - 8 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
 - 1/2 cup ripe olives, sliced
 - 1/4 cup chopped dill pickles
 - 1/4 tsp. chopped parsley
 - 2 onions, diced (or 8 green onions, tops and stalks, sliced)
 - 1 1/2 pts. salad dressing
 - Salt and pepper
 - Romaine
- Wash and core apples, dicing all but 3 rings (cut from center of one apple) to be held in reserve for garnish. Dip apple rings in lemon wash. Peel and dice potatoes. Place diced apples and potatoes in a large mixing bowl. Blend in celery, eggs, olives, pickles, parsley and onions. Add salad dressing to moisten; salt and pepper to taste. Toss together lightly. Mound into serving bowl which has been lined with romaine leaves. Garnish with reserved apple rings. Makes 3 1/2 quarts.

Knits--for a New Look in Men's Suits

By BOB COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK--(NEA)--U.S. designers of men's clothing are understandably reluctant to admit it, but their colleagues abroad have stolen their thunder -- if they ever had any in the first place.

Just the other day, the Daily News Record, trade paper for the men's apparel industry, gave space to several American designers to let off steam.

And the most they could muster were bleats that European designers were getting too much publicity. Which isn't the point at all.

The point: European designers have been producing far more interesting styles than Americans. For years, it seems that U.S. manufacturers have been keeping heavy thumbs on their design people, allowing them little opportunity for experimentation.

Here's a good example of foreign imagination: The Celanese Fibers Marketing Co. recently commissioned several top men's designers -- all but one are European -- to create some imaginative clothing out of knits, of all things.

Since Celanese is interested in polyester fibers, the fabrics offered to the designers were blends of natural fiber and nylon, Arnel triacetate and Portrel polyester.

Women, who have been wearing knits for years, are apt to say, with more than a touch of boredom, "So what else is new?" Knitted items for men have long been limited to shirts and sweaters and maybe trousers and ski outfits.

But the Europeans designed sport jackets and suits. And the results represent a significant breakthrough in men's fashions, if only conservative U.S. manufacturers will take heed.

The designers involved in this novel experiment are Pierre Cardin, Paris; Ole Hoffgaard, Copenhagen; John Michael, London; Angelo Vittucci, Rome; and John Weitz, New York.

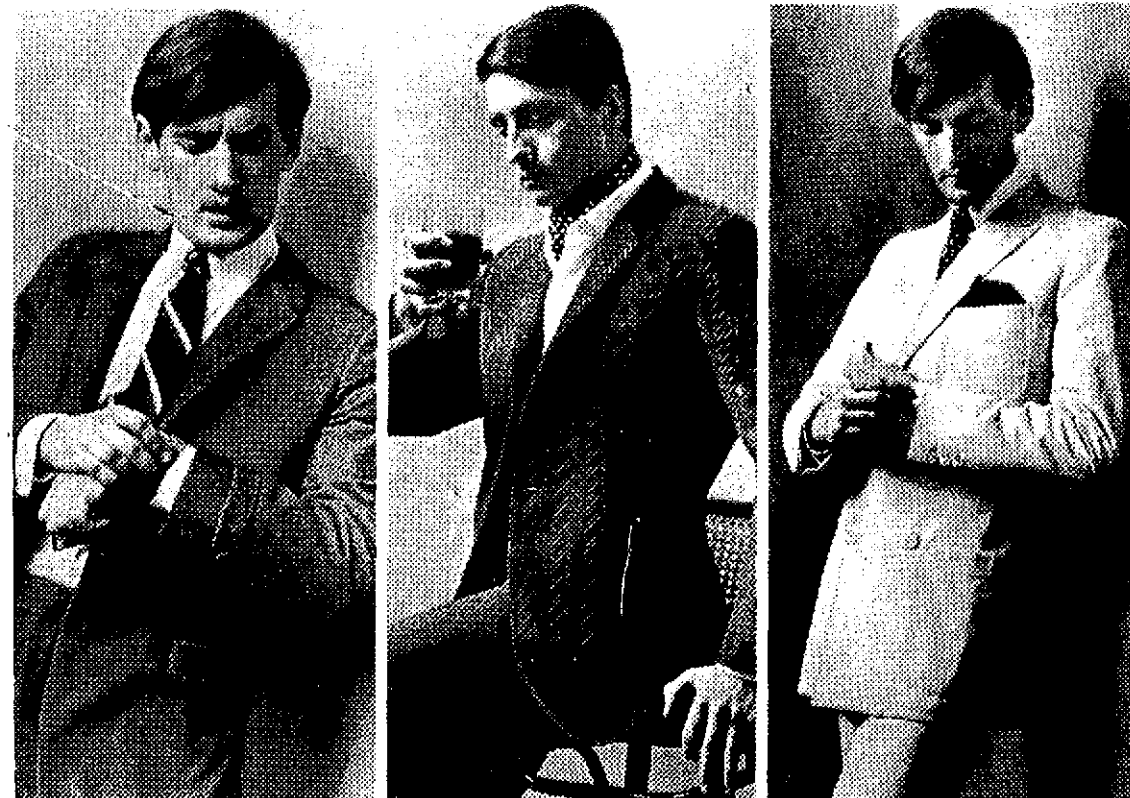

There is, oddly enough, a remarkable similarity in many of these independently conceived collections: Pockets have prominent flaps; epaulet trims and buttons abound; subtle shaping is everywhere.

Colors are also similar. There are intense blues with vibrating violet highlights, a rich chocolate brown, subdued charcoal gray and a faded denim blue. Preferred textures include the super-smooth and plush cashmere feel to herringbone-ribbed and nappy, nubby knits.

What's more, the garments are washable, rugged and have a "give" which traditional natural fabrics sometimes lack.

The designs are one-of-a-kind models but, if enough interest by manufacturers and, hopefully, consumers is shown, they could go into the regular lines.

John Michael, London

Conceived in the "more-mature Mod" mode, this suit is done in a fleecy gray knit of Fortrel and Arnel. Note heavy pocket stitching and epaulets.

Angelo Vittucci, Rome

The designer chose a hefty herringbone-textured knit of Fortrel and Arnel for this violet-blue, three-button sport coat. Note side vents and suppressed waist.

Pierre Cardin, Paris

Deep side vents and flared lapels distinguish this contoured double-breasted suit in a washable cord-striped knit of nylon and Fortrel.

Ham Leftovers Brighten Lunch, Supper or Snack

Those wonderful leftovers from ham -- who would want to do without them?

If the ham has been one of the large ones, 12 to 14 pounds, slices after the first meal has been served offer tempting sandwiches, with mustard and rye bread, if you please! Maybe you would even like a club sandwich using chopped, hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise as one deck with juicy slices of ham as the second.

Sandwiches like this deserve to be "dressed up" so cut them in thirds rather than halves, holding them together with a kabob of a pineapple chunk and pickle.

A lunch or supper dish out of cubed, cooked ham might contain mushrooms in a cream sauce, serve atop chow mein noodles to provide texture.

Ham, like any cooked meat, should be refrigerated promptly after the meal in order to keep it at its best, claims meat authority Reba Staggs. Cover it closely before storing.

Saucy Way With Spinach

Exotic Flavors Give Lamb Chop Oriental Touch

It's not always possible to journey to far-off lands to sample exotic foods, but you can bring the flavors and ideas right into your own kitchen.

Ceylon is the country which gives inspiration to these lamb chops with chutney, lime juice, curry, ginger, mint and raisins, explains Reba Staggs, meat expert. Three-quarters of an hour simmering time will blend the flavors.

Lamb Chops Ceylon

- 6 lamb shoulder chops, cut 3/4 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1/2 cup chutney
- 1 tablespoon lime juice
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon crushed dried mint
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup raisins

Brown lamb chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine in saucepan chutney, lime juice, curry powder, ginger, dried mint, water and raisins. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until well mixed, about 5 minutes. Pour over the browned lamb chops. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes or until done. 6 servings.

Buckley's Bibliography

Library Dedication Here Sunday

In his unsuccessful but witty bid for the mayoralty of New York, William Buckley Jr., conservative columnist and editor of the National Review, saw to it that he always had the last Sunday with open house word. He would, he declared, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The dedication is set for 2 p.m. In that highly improbable eventuality, he promised he would personally demand a recount, being certain of hanky-panky at the polls.

The other day, in a television show called "Firing Line With William Buckley," the cheerful gadfly engaged the doctrinaire Steve Allen in a dialogue over capital punishment Allen argued that he had not been able to find a single book in favor of the death penalty and that he had read all he could find.

Buckley, master of the perfect squelch, cut him short and dissolved the debate in laughter with this finisher: "Try the Bible." — Montgomery (Ala.) Alabama Journal

Dept. Of Unthinkable Thoughts

It is unthinkable that the government, as Dr. Victor Kassel proposes, will legalize polygamy and polygyny for the aged. We say this with a certain reservation, however, since it is perfectly clear that a lot of things we thought were unthinkable a few thoughtless years ago are not only thinkable, but a statutory fact.

All we know with much assurance is that, when the government finally legalizes plural marriages for those over 60, it will also subsidize the institution. And in doing so it will have no choice but to tax a little more those who can scarcely afford one wife to provide more generously for those who have always hankered after half a dozen.

Eventually, the young will be compelled to live in sin while the aged frolic in the fields of publicly supported matrimonial blisses; and everyone will look back on the bad, old days and wonder why no one thought of this ingenious arrangement a thousand years ago.

And the answer, of course, is that in some things the perfect solution takes time. — Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail

Sleeping It Off

A person who lives to be 60 years of age will have slept away at least 20 years of his life, a team of researchers at the University of Florida reports. By cutting this down one hour a night, they could add two weeks of extra time they are awake each year. The only trouble is that some psychiatrists insist that sleep is good for nervous disorders. They point out that a minimum of three hours of sleep a night will make a person unhappy, depressed and tired while sometimes a person will be benefited by as much as two weeks of continuous sleep.

Of course, this is probably prescribed only for extreme cases. For most of us it is quite satisfactory to sleep away no more than 20 years. And it may even be for some that these are the best years of their life. — Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel

Ford Reports Sales Best on Record
DETROIT — Ford Motor Co. reported today its early May auto sales were the highest of any May 1-10 in Ford's 63-year history.

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors sales reports, to be issued today, could indicate the end of a month-long slump in auto sales.

Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. punctured the trend of declining sales Wednesday, when it reported customers bought cars in record volume during the first ten days of the month. The company's Lincoln-Mercury Division was to make its report today.

The crucial question was whether the other three manufacturers would report a similar upturn.

Last month auto sales dipped below those of a year ago and Arjay Miller, Ford president, said one of the factors was "harassment" of the industry on the auto safety issue.

State of Siege in Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — In a move to head off trouble, Guatemala's military government Tuesday night declared a 30-day state of siege after Congress elected Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro to a four-year term as president.

Mendez Montenegro succeeds Col. Enrique Peralta, who helped overthrow President Miguel Ydigoras in 1963. Government spokesmen said the state of siege was prompted by the kidnapping of two officials by rebels last week. The rebels said they would hold the officials until the government produces 28 insurgents missing since last March. Two persons were killed during the abduction.

Water Systems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration announced a $97,000 grant and a $99,350 loan to finance construction of a water system at Hecol, Ark. (Hope County) the office of Rep. James Trimble, D-Ark., said Tuesday.

Temperature Moderate Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures moderated in most of the northeast quarter of the nation today after several days of freezing weather which appears to have caused millions of dollars damage to fruit and vegetable crops.

Lowest readings were in the 20s in northern New England but the mercury was mostly in the 30s and 40s in areas hit by the recent spell of unseasonably cold weather.

More rain fell across wide areas from the central Rockies into the nation's midsection. Snow fell in mountain areas.

The rain belt appeared heading eastward and southward. Stormy weather raked areas in eastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri Wednesday, injuring one person and causing property damage. A tornado struck at Pittsburg, a city of 18,700 in southeastern Kansas, and blew the roof off part of a building in which several hundred persons sought shelter. Several homes were damaged.

A twister also struck seven miles north of Topeka, causing minor property damage. Several funnel clouds were spotted in the Kansas City area.

Sun to Slow in 2 Billion Years

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The sun will one day spin only half as fast as it is now — in about two to four billion years.

The estimate, made at the California Institute of Technology and based on measurements taken by space satellites, indicates the sun's rotation will slow from once every 27 days to once in 40 days.

The effects of the slower solar rotation were not calculated.

Arkla Earnings Up 10 Per Cent

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — First quarter net earnings of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. were up 10 per cent over the first three months of 1965.

W. R. Stephens, board chairman and president, said Tuesday.

Stephens also said earnings for the 12 months ending March 31 were up 12 per cent over the previous year.

Prior to a stockholders meeting here, Arkla's directors declared quarterly dividends of 37½ cents per share on common stock, and 22½ cents per share on preference stock, payable on June 15 to stockholders of record May 20. The dividend payments for 1966 are at the rate of $1.50 per share.

Winter Wheat 10 Million Bushels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Arkansas winter wheat crop will total 10,121,000 bushels with a yield of 29 bushels per acre on 349,000 acres, the Agriculture Department forecast Tuesday.

The national winter wheat crop prediction was 1.1 billion bushels.

Arkansas' peach crop was set at 1 million bushels.

82 Americans Killed, War Toll Is 3,334

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More Americans were killed in combat last week than troops of the South Vietnamese government, allied military spokesmen announced today.

It was the second time that American combat dead exceeded the Vietnamese in the five years of American involvement in the war.

Spokesmen announced 82 Americans died in battle last week compared with 61 Vietnamese, although the size of the government armed forces is nearly triple that of the 255,000-man U.S. force here.

It was also the lowest number of Vietnamese battle deaths this year.

During the politically turbulent week of April 3-9, 95 Americans were killed in combat compared with 67 government troops.

The 82 Americans killed brought the number of U.S. combat dead to an unofficial total of 1,386 for the year and 3,334 since Jan. 1, 1961. The Vietnamese report 3,334 killed for the year.

Viet Cong losses were reported as 456 killed — the same figure as the previous week's — and 121 captured, an increase of 23.

As the war continued today, U.S. Marines and airborne troops battled the Viet Cong in three operations while American planes continued to pound targets in North Viet Nam.

A U.S. spokesman reported Navy planes from the Carrier Enterprise came two miles closer to Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, to hit a Soviet-built missile site Wednesday. The site was 10 miles from the port city, and the spokesman said smoke billowed 2,000 feet into the air after the attack.

The closest previous attack to Haiphong was 12 miles.

Apparently No Stopping Dollar Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ending the balance of payments deficit is becoming a virtually impossible goal this year for the Johnson administration.

The administration, already faced with a dollar drain from the Viet Nam war, a shrinking trade balance and mounting American travel abroad, has asked American businessmen to redouble their efforts to slow the outflow.

Wednesday, a appeal from Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor to 900 companies taking part in this year's program of voluntary restraint also was an indication of the administration disappointment in results thus far.

Connor said preliminary figures from 618 of the firms showed an anticipated contribution of $919 million toward the balance of payments picture. But last January officials had hoped the over-all contribution would be $3.4 billion.

"On the face of it, it doesn't look optimistic," one source said.

Firms supplying the preliminary figures accounted last year for about half of all U.S. exports, a factor which prompted a department official to suggest that the over-all business contribution this year might be close to $2 billion, still below original hopes.

But without the voluntary program, another official said, there probably would have been an overwhelming outflow of dollars and a further deepening in the U.S. deficit.

NEW YORK (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, son of the 32nd president, today declared himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

Confident of Gemini 9 Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With two straight days of successful major tests behind, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was confident today it could launch the Gemini 9 astronauts on time next Tuesday on a rendezvous and space-walk mission.

The Gemini 9 pilots, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, participated Wednesday in a day-long series of rehearsals involving simulated launchings, emergency situations and orbital exercises.

The tests followed Tuesday's flawless practice of the dual countdown involving Atlas-Agena and Titan 2 rockets.

The Atlas is to boost the Agena into orbit at 11 a.m., EDT, Tuesday. The Titan 2 is to follow 39 minutes later, to start Gemini 9 in pursuit.

Stafford and Cernan plan several linkups with the Agena and Cernan is to take a record space walk of 2 hours 25 minutes during the flight.

A check of the worldwide tracking network is scheduled Friday. The astronauts will receive their final major physical examination Saturday. They will devote much of the remaining time before Tuesday to practice runs in a spacecraft simulator and to reviewing the complex flight plan for the three-day journey.

Special Session Hinted on Talk of Impeachment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus—amid rumors of a move to impeach the Arkansas Highway Commission—said today he may call a special legislative session within the next few months.

Faubus declined to say whether he would include impeachment in his call to a special session, but he refused to discount such a possibility. "I first was contacted about this about 1½ years ago," Faubus said. "The grounds proposed then were that the commissioners were running the Highway Department from their homes and business offices."

"The same grounds have come up again in discussion," he said.

Faubus said more than five state senators had contacted him about possible impeachment of the commission. He refused to name the senators.

Impeachment could come if five senators voted for it in a legislative session.

Faubus said he probably would not call a session until after the party primaries, July 26.

The grounds he gave for calling a session were that the state's two tuberculosis sanatoriums need to be consolidated and more space is needed for work with handicapped children.

The act applies to members of three bodies, the Compensation Commission, the state Public Service Commission and the Commerce Commission.

Among nine men who joined the plan is William J. Smith, the long-time legal advisor and legislature aide to Gov. Orval Faubus. Faubus said Wednesday that he didn't know Smith might be eligible for the pension when he signed the act in March of 1965.

The plan provides pensions of up to $6,000 a year at age 65 for any persons who ever served on one of the three commissions, regardless of length of time on the commission. Any combination of commission service time and time in state, county or city appointive or elected office totaling 15 years qualifies men for the plan.

Smith qualified as a member of the compensation commission in the early 1940s.

Smith said Wednesday that Faubus was the unofficial chairman of the group which drew up the bill.

The Dynamic Duo Goes to College

By MEREDITH MOSS
Moderator Magazine
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If Batman and Robin are ever run out of Gotham City, they can always find a comfortable home on the campus. Most students, in fact, consider them part of the campus communities already.

Their faith in the Dynamic Duo's abilities was dramatically displayed on Ohio State University's campus recently, where Batman was nominated for the presidency of the student body. He received more votes than a past editor of an OSU publication.

The campus crowd finds Batman, currently ranking as the top early evening show on television, worth every penny of its budget. With popcorn and cokes in hand, students gather two nights a week in front of the tube to scream and howl as Batman and Robin screech into action. Said one student from the University of Illinois: "I plan my entire week's schedule around the program."

Amherst College reports as many as 120 students glued to a single television set in a dormitory basement, with the count rising during exam weeks. The University of Minnesota states that on several occasions dormitory television rooms have overflowed so that late arrivals were forced to scurry to other local hangouts.

The craze carries over to all facets of campus life. At San Jose State College, a local fraternity house has been renamed Bat Manor and the University of Mississippi claims a Bat Cave. At Minnesota, one baseball team calls itself the Batmen, and members are fully attired in masks, capes and shirts with bat insignias.

Minnesota's campus also claims a University Batman Fan Club. The club president explained that the organization is part of the expansion of educational and cultural activities on campus. The fan club claims 50 members.

Students at Purdue erected a huge ice-snow Batman. A coed from Phoenix watches the show so closely, that she claims Batman has midriff bulge, and that his thighs occasionally wrinkle at the knees when he is Zapping or Powing or doing the popular new dance, the Bat.

Why has Batman created such a sensation on the college campus? Most attribute his popularity to Batman's "campness," usually defined as "something so far out that it's in." A sociology professor has remarked that the show "calls forth visions of gangster movies, comic books, and a little bit of everyone's childhood. We all want to be Superman, or Tarzan, or Humphrey Bogart."

A recent survey conducted by Moderator magazine found that students pick programs that can be viewed in large groups. "Batman is ideal," said one. "The more people that watch together, the funnier it is. It lends itself to a college audience."

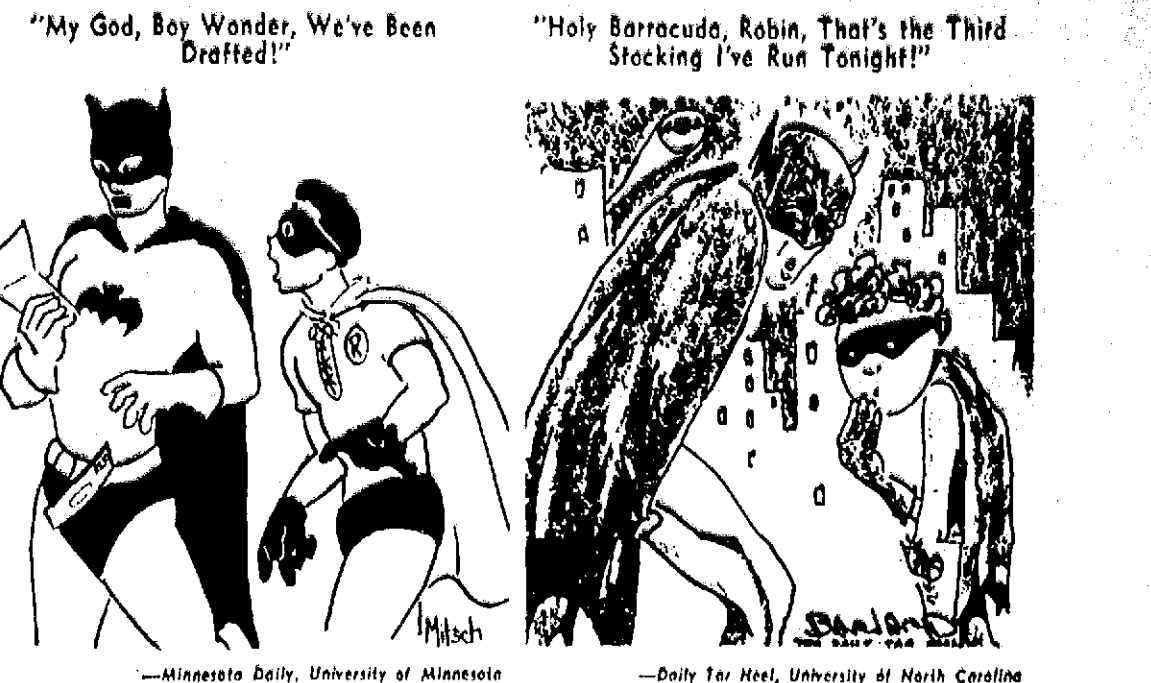

Added another student: "The plot is uncomplicated; you don't have to think when you watch it. It's so naive and corny and you know exactly what the outcome will be. Quite a change from the mathematical theorem you've been working on an hour before."

Some find the program too clean-living. "After all there's no gunfire, no drop of blood, no violence," emphasizes a senior at the University of Pennsylvania. "Holy Ravioli" is a bit much. I know that television producers want to get away from too much crime on the networks, but they may be carrying it too far the other way."

But the offended are the minority. Campus newspapers throughout the country report Batman the biggest college hit of the year.

Hissing the villain and cheering the heroes, college students find in Batman one enjoyable and simple answer to the pressures and complexities of university life.

TWO CAMPUS VIEWS OF BATMAN: Cartoonists on college newspapers are irreverent, to say the least.

Prolong Floral Beauty

By Allan and Sheila Swenson
NEA Garden Specialists

This year, try preserving the annual flowers from your garden for use as ever-attractive bouquets. You'll enjoy lasting pleasure from the otherwise fleeting beauty of your garden.

Today, with improved methods, drying flowers and arranging them is easier than ever. The many new dwarf flower varieties are especially adaptable to personalized and informal arrangements. Color is lasting. Dried flowers can be as bright and colorful as though they had just come from your garden.

One bright candidate for drying this year is the new dwarf-type sunburst Celosia, a combination of sizzling red and brilliant gold blooms that grows just 12 inches tall. Sunburst Celosia makes a perfect winter bouquet because it keeps its bright colors almost up to frost time in your garden.

A simple way to dry flowers is to cut the blooms in early morning or late evening. Carefully remove stem leaves, then hang blooms upside down to dry in a place that's warm, with low moisture and out of the direct rays of the sun. Two weeks later they should be ready to arrange.

You can also dry flowers by placing blooms upside down in a container and covering them with sifted dry sand or a mixture of borax and corn meal. Preserving them with watered glycerine is still another method. Drying blooms with silica gel or a mixture of silica gel and silica sand is easy and highly effective.

Easiest and cheapest of the methods, though, is to hang the blooms to dry. Some of the other flowers that dry well by this method include salvia, Bells of Ireland, statice, lunaria, Chinese lantern plant, globe amaranth, scabiosa, pansies, straw flowers and carnations.

1. With special instruments, physicists are able to detect thousands of variations in the colors of the spectrum. But the average human eye can only distinguish about 40 of them!

2. Color is present in all light. And sunlight, which appears to have no color, is really the sum total of all color. This is best seen in the presence of rainbows after a rainfall.

3. Color TV is harder to receive than black and white. Signals are weaker and interference more prominent - which is why an outdoor antenna is a must for fine color reception, yet not always needed for black and white sets.

4. Perfect color TV reception is possible by using shielded coaxial cable rather than twin-lead to connect the antenna to the TV set. New Jerrold coaxial antenna systems keep color pure and true; keep interference out.

Unbend That Curly Topknot

Women with curly hair (left) usually moon for straighter hair for styling flexibility. Now there is a curl-free natural-curl relaxer for use at home. After reading instructions thoroughly, Miss Curly Hair (inset) saturates her hair with the relaxer lotion and combs her hair for 20 minutes. If hair is color-treated the combing process is cut to 10 minutes. Comb gently and follow through with rinsing, application of a stabilizer and conditioner. Set in desired style (right). Manufacturer recommends using a test strand of hair to check for allergic reaction and not to use relaxer on damaged hair.

by Alicia Hart
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(N.E.A.)—No wonder the curl-top envies her straight-haired friends. They seem to adapt to any hairstyle that is fashionable while the gal with curly or wavy hair must wear hairdos "her hair wants her to."

Things are changing, though. For years professional hair straightening has eased the problem for women who have the time and patience to undergo treatment in a beauty salon. Such hair straightening lasts for three to six months, then is repeated. Since the solution used is extremely strong it is best used in a professional hairdresser's hands.

Now with a new hair care preparation formulated specifically for home use, those with curly hair may choose their own hairdos; nature no longer makes the choice.

The new product does not straighten hair so it hangs limply without body. Instead it relaxes the hair but leaves sufficient body so the hair may be set in any style.

Beauticians point out that such an approach to "straightening" hair is far superior to ironing it (which many youngsters do) which damages the hair.

As with all new products don't jump in without first reading instructions thoroughly and testing a strand of your hair. Also start with healthy hair. If the test strand shows breakage, feels gummy, rubbery, spongy or has any unsatisfactory feel, do not use the relaxer. Your hair is not in condition. Wait until it is healthy before using the relaxer. Also, if your hair has been bleached or color-treated, follow special instructions closely.

Although the manufacturer claims misuse of the natural-curl relaxer can't damage hair permanently, there is always someone who has bad luck. Usually this stems from not following the instructions.

Inflation and War Are Big Arguments

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—So far in 1966 the two biggest arguments are over the war in Viet Nam and the danger of inflation. They are not unrelated.

The more the government spends on war, the more profits, prices and wages are affected. Without the war, inflation might seem more remote.

President Johnson, trying to play cautious on how far to go with the war and how far to go to prevent inflation, is making people sore in both cases.

Instead of asking for a tax boost as a major anti-inflation move, he has asked labor and business to take it easy.

Easy means keeping down prices and big wage demands. These are his guidelines, voluntary action, requested of both sides.

But there are arguments on all sides: There should be direct government controls on prices and wages; there should be a tax increase without other controls; neither controls nor taxes are needed.

A few things that happened last week show the divided thinking, if not confusion.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, asked whether it wasn't time for business to pant a little less about profits.

He asked: "Does anyone imagine that labor will continue to show moderation in its wage demands when prices and profit margins are continually rising?"

But—many recent wage settlements have substantially exceeded the guideline suggested for labor, that wage increases should be limited to 3.2 percent a year. Labor spokesmen are not satisfied with the guideline idea.

One complaint they make: The guideline puts a suggested lid on workers while leaving the gate open for business profits, stock dividends and corporation executives' salaries.

Businessmen complain Johnson's guideline for them is federal interference in free enterprise. Some have expressed fear the temporary restraint might become permanent.

Right behind Ackley came William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board which is not under Johnson's thumb like the Council of Economic Advisers.

Martin didn't plead for restraint. He said a tax increase on corporations and individuals is needed now as an anti-inflationary weapon.

Then right behind came the secretary of the treasury, Henry H. Fowler, a member of Johnson's Cabinet. He raised a blinker light against Martin's call for a tax increase now.

His argument: The economic trends are still so unclear that a tax increase might be an "over-cure," at least now.

YOUR GARDEN--A GOLDMINE?

Mr. Burpee and Marigolds

The story of the girl who spun straw into gold is only a fairy tale—but turning seeds into cash can be a reality if you have a "white thumb" when it comes to growing marigolds.

Ten thousand dollars is being offered by the W. Atlee Burpee Co., Philadelphia, Pa., to the first person who sends them seed that will produce a pure white marigold 2½ inches or more across.

More than 4,000 people from all over the world have made the attempt. David Burpee, head of the 90-year-old seed house, began the search in 1955. "We've really made progress since then," he said. "People are coming closer every year and I wouldn't be at all surprised to find myself signing that $10,000 check pretty soon."

So, while money doesn't grow on trees, it may be possible to grow $10,000 on a marigold plant in your own garden.

Everyone Likes These Spareribs

BARBECUED SPARERIBS are a cookout season special.

The Memorial Day weekend starts the long fun season of the outdoor grill. The tall, white chefs' hats, the dizzy aprons and the big asbestos gloves appear on the domestic scene as the men of the family take over.

For a starter, how about barbecuing a rack of spare-ribs. Everyone likes them and they are easy to grill. Select a well-seasoned marinating sauce. For a welcome extra bit of zip to the sauce, add a small amount of aromatic bitters.

- BARBECUED SPARERIBS
- 2 racks spareribs, about 4 pounds
 - 3 cans (8-ounce) tomato sauce with cheese
 - 1/2 cup dark brown sugar
 - 3 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1 clove garlic, mashed
 - Juice of 2 lemons
 - 1/2 cup oil
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground white pepper
 - 2 tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters
- Have butcher crack spare-ribs so they can be cut easily after cooking. Wash spareribs and pat dry. Combine remaining ingredients and simmer in saucepan for 15 minutes, turning once. Brush ribs generously with sauce and place high above gray coals, about 8 to 10 inches. Broil, turning occasionally and brushing frequently with sauce, for 1 hour or until ribs are brown and done.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Maud Shaw's 'Favorite Time'

By AILEEN SNOODY Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sixteen Hundred Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C., was a closed world to us now, and I felt like crying.

So writes Maud Shaw, the English nannie of Caroline and John-John Kennedy, in her reminiscences of seven years with the late President, his wife and children. It recalls the solemn moment when the special limousine swept through the White House gates carrying all but one of its favored residents to a new life.

Aileen

The memory still pains Maud Shaw, and there was a moistness in her very blue eyes as she discussed her life with the Kennedys.

She had just settled into a hotel and was sitting in the living room, bare of any warming or personal mementos. She was in the United States to publicize her book,

"White House Nannie," which cautiously recounts incidents in her days of tending to the Kennedy children.

But perhaps the moistness in her eyes could have been in anticipation of seeing her "very special friends" again, after an absence of a year.

Her former charges did not know she was in New York and would be visiting the United States for three weeks.

She explained the children hadn't been told of her visit because "I would rather surprise them than disappoint them if we can't see each other."

A year ago, Maud Shaw helped Mrs. Kennedy relocate in Georgetown and then again in Manhattan. She returned to Sheerness, Kent, England, to care for her elderly brother and sister. She had come full circle since she left her family in Malta at 23 to care for about 50 children in exotic spots such as Egypt, Cyprus and South Africa.

"My favorite time, though," she said, "was that brief period in the White House."

Of all the children she tended, Miss Shaw says the Kennedy children were her favorites. "I have a deeper love for them than all the others, perhaps because we have seen so much together."

This bond of shared joys and tragedy also drew her more closely to Caroline Kennedy, she explained, than to John F. Kennedy Jr., "as the young scamp liked to introduce himself even when I tried to keep people from bothering the children."

"Life before the White House had been orderly and routine for Caroline," Miss Shaw continued. "This may account for her basic shyness. She's like her mother. I felt drawn to Caroline in a protective way."

"John-John was born into action and excitement. I loved him dearly but he was so outgoing, he had his father's energy. I didn't feel as protective toward him as I did toward Caroline."

The "thousand-and-one days," she feels, were possibly the most important to John Kennedy as a father. "He saw more of the children in the White House because everything was centered there. I called it 'bobbing to and fro' but the children saw him at breakfast, often at lunch or they just dropped into his office. Mrs. Kennedy, too, had more time for the children during the White House term."

Miss Shaw feels she and the Kennedys saw eye-to-eye on how to rear children.

"They wanted Caroline and John-John to be well-mannered and obedient," she said.

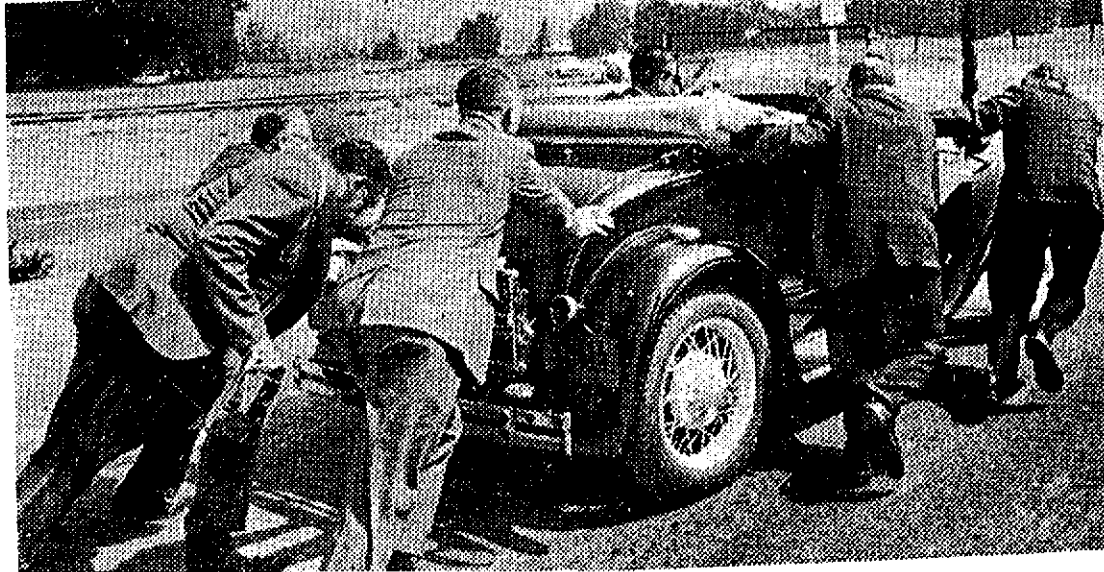

"They wanted healthy, happy children, and it seems I must have given them something of this because friends of the family were surprised at how well-disciplined the children were when we moved to New York."

Explaining how she coped with the different temperaments of the Kennedy children, Miss Shaw expressed her philosophy that "if you want a child to do anything, then keep at him until it is done. In time he will learn your word is law." This, she said, proved true in her handling of young John since he was "more outgoing, had a quick temper and always tried to get around you." Caroline she reasoned with, Miss Shaw admitted, and only whacked her once when she wandered off "and scared me."

Even with their varying temperaments, Miss Shaw reveals that Mrs. Kennedy liked to dress the children similarly. "She liked to have them match," Miss Shaw said. "Mrs. Kennedy said, 'Go select what you think I would like.' Mrs. Kennedy wanted simple, good lines for the children, and everything had to match and blend. Nothing fought against the other in color or pattern."

Now retired in Kent after 50 years as an "international nannie," Maud Shaw says her only regret is the "quietness of the place. There's no theater, no card parties and I miss my friends."

PUSHING AHEAD—Across the new divided highway at Ventura, Calif., was the ceremonial ribbon. The mayor and other dignitaries were posing for pictures in the 1930 car which was to go through and cut the ribbon. Someone turned off the ignition and the car wouldn't start again.

Clambake Features Lobster Tails

by Gaynor Maddox Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No holiday clambake is complete without corn-on-the-cob and lobster. Whether on the beach or in your own back yard, the clambake should include raw clams on the half shell, grilled chicken with a tangy barbecue sauce made with butter, lemon or lime juice and Tabasco, and corn and lobster.

Frozen lobster tails can be used in place of live Maine lobsters. Grill them on the charcoal grill.

GRILLED CORN-ON-THE-COB

Remove husks and silk from ears of corn. Place each ear on piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Brush with tangy butter sauce. Wrap in foil, double wrapping if fire is very hot or if corn is to be placed directly on coals. Grill 20 to 25 minutes, turning occasionally.

SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTER TAILS

How to Barbecue: Thaw tails. Cut underside membrane around edge and remove. Grasp tail in both hands and bend backwards to ward shell side to crack. This will prevent curling. Or insert skewers to keep tail flat

LOBSTER TAILS AND CORN team for a treat.

When fire is hot, grill tails for 5 minutes, flesh side down toward heat. Turn, brush flesh with Tabasco butter sauce. Grill flesh side up until meat has lost its transparency and is opaque. This will take from 3 to 5 minutes, depending on heat of the fire and size of the rock lobster tails.

How to Barbecue Frozen: Take frozen tails and with a very sharp knife cut down through the middle of the hard shell. Cut through flesh but not underside membrane. Grasp tail in both hands and open flat, exposing meaty sections. Place tails flesh side toward heat and barbecue for 5 minutes. Turn tails, brush with Tabasco butter sauce and continue grilling, flesh side up, until meat is opaque. This will take from 8 to 10 minutes, depending on heat of the fire and size of the tails.
